MEMORANDUM FOR: Mr. Paul Walsh
A/DDI

SUBJECT: Frank Snepp's Request for a Classified DDI
Document

1. In response to the DCI's commitment to Snepp to review the document in question for declassification, [redacted] and [redacted] have reviewed the attached intelligence memorandum and have recommended that it be declassified and provided to Snepp. As you can see from the EA/DDO's comments to me, the DDO has no objection to declassification with one exception, which they have explained.

2. I have discussed this with [redacted]. We feel the best way to proceed is to have the DDI's FOIA mechanism physically declassify the document in accordance with any procedures applicable to an FOIA request. It should then be provided to [redacted] for release to Snepp.

Frank Snapp has asked for release of a classified document concerning U.S. intelligence analyses on Vietnam which he apparently helped draft while he was still in this Agency. A copy of this document is attached. The ADDI has referred this to his Vietnam hands and you will note that they all recommend declassification and release of this document in full to Mr. Snapp. The ADDI has asked the DDO, however, whether we concur. A particular point that is obviously relevant to us is whether this compromises or endangers any of our sources. Would you please have someone review this document and forward a recommendation to Bill concerning its declassification and release.

INTELLIGENCE MEMORANDUM

SUBJECT: Effectiveness of US Intelligence Analysis on Vietnam,
December 1974 - April 1975

KEY POINTS

- American intelligence made a continuous, voluminous, and high quality input to US policy makers in the months immediately preceding the end of the war in Vietnam.
- In December 1974, a National Intelligence Estimate correctly assessed North Vietnamese strategy and plans for the first half of 1975.
 - This NIE concluded that in response to a major opportunity the communists might launch an all-out offensive to exploit the situation.
 - The consequences of Thieu's ill-planned and poorly executed decision in mid-March to retrench militarily gave Hanoi such an opportunity, and the North Vietnamese quickly exploited it.
 - The criticality of US military assistance, or lack thereof, was emphasized as a key factor conditioning both South Vietnam's will to resist and North Vietnam's willingness to escalate the level of fighting.
- The record is not without some deficiencies, but they were minor:
 - Early on, the resiliency of the South Vietnamese forces was overestimated.
 - There was an initial tendency to underestimate the speed and success with which the communists would move to exploit the situation.
- Within three weeks of Thieu's mid-March decision, however, the intelligence community concluded that South Vietnam's fate was sealed and that within a short time North Vietnam would emerge victorious.
- Beginning in early April 1975, the community concluded that the best the non-communists could obtain would be a negotiated surrender on

- "The communists appear to be ruling out any consideration of a genuine negotiation of the conflict. At a press conference in Saigon Saturday, the Viet Cong spokesman carefully avoided mentioning negotiations with the present government or even a reconstituted one such as they had been demanding."
- "An equally tough line reportedly emerged from a secret briefing of senior communist officials in COSVN [in April.] A reliable source stated that COSVN believed the 'whole thing' would be finished in a short time and that the communists would not agree to enter into negotiations, nor would they join any tripartite coalition government."

April 22, 1975, DCI Briefing for WSAG Meeting, "Vietnam"

- At this point the communists' public response to President Thieu's resignation gives no encouragement to the prospects for negotiations.
- In short, the communists appear to be telling us that a totally new South Vietnamese government and a quick and total US withdrawal will be the price for surrender.
- For Saigon, there simply may not be enough time left for the round of political maneuvering that is already underway.

April 22, 1975, Daily Intelligence Publication:

- "The communists have ruled out any real compromise settlement, implying that nothing less than total surrender would be acceptable. Initial communist reaction to the Thieu resignation has continued this line. A Viet Cong spokesman in Paris has been quoted as stating that before negotiations could be considered, the US must "halt all interference in Vietnam" and that not only Thieu "but also his whole regime must be overthrown."
- "At this point, the very best a new South Vietnamese government might obtain is a negotiated surrender. Given the proximity of communist military forces to Saigon -- and the very real prospect of a rapid disintegration of South Vietnamese military will in the wake of Thieu's resignation -- time may already have run out for any such orderly transfer of power."

Remarks:

I am returning herewith the material regarding Frank Snapp's request which we took care of on Friday. At Tab A is a copy of the package as you initially gave it to me. At Tab B is a copy of a transmittal note hand-delivered to Deputy General Counsel [redacted] at about 1430 on Friday, together with a "sanitized" copy of the document for delivery to Snapp. The "sanitization" consisted simply of a minor amendment of the text on page A16 of the Annex.

I am providing DDA/IPS a copy of both the sanitized and unsanitized versions of the document.

MEMORANDUM FOR THE RECORD

SUBJECT: Conversation with Mr. Frank Snepp

Mr. Snepp called me during the evening of 30 May to inquire what, if anything, had transpired from his conversation with the Director. I told him that I was unaware of any specific action except for a new look at the issue he raised concerning [redacted] Snepp said that he had received a letter from [redacted] which he was in the process of drafting a reply (he offered no details on this subject). Snepp closed the brief conversation by stating that he would be travelling quite a bit in the future and that he would be calling me periodically to maintain contact.

MEMORANDUM FOR: Assistant to the Deputy Director of Central Intelligence [REDACTED]

STAT

FROM : [REDACTED]
Deputy General Counsel

SUBJECT : Frank Warren Snepp III

1. I talked to Snepp by telephone this morning. He had been away for several days and I had been unable to reach him. First he assured me that he would respond immediately to my letter of 24 May 1977, which requested him to confirm in writing that he understood and would comply with the provisions of his Secrecy Agreement in connection with the possible publication of his book.

25X1

3. In response to a further question from him, I told him that the declassification review of the OCI memorandum on essentials of reporting from Saigon in the last two months was under way. He also noted that he thought the Director had indicated he (the DCI) would be responsive to further requests from Snepp for material which would help him with his book. I told him that we would consider any such request and that he could direct it to me.

4. The conversation was completely amicable and friendly, and it seems that for the moment we have taken the edge off his complaints.
